Monday 17th June 2024

Did you know that this Friday will be the longest day of the year? It marks the Summer solstice.

The summer solstice happens each year when one of the Earth's poles has its biggest tilt towards the Sun. This event occurs twice a year – once in the Northern Hemisphere and once in the Southern Hemisphere.

During the summer solstice, the Sun reaches its highest position in the sky, given each respective hemisphere the longest day of the year.

Solstices & Equinoxes: Northern Hemisphere

★ WOW WORK! ★

Special 'shout out' to El in Group 6 for writing and performing an outstanding monologue in her English lesson last week!

This week, Group 1 have been working really hard in Maths. As you can see they have been focusing on time. So, if you need any help with the time, days of the week or months of the year go and speak to one of them!
